FH 23 Collection

OPTICAL

Ace II

Our cult-favorite Ace Sun transformed into an optical. Ace II reflects the standard way in which we design and create premium eyewear. We're not reinventing the wheel here – just putting some rims on 'em.

Demi Blonde

Sequoia Tortoise

Buchanan

A new outline with a slightly upswept brow. It's sharp, bold, and served fresh with a new palm core wire in optical. We're debuting our new Facet Temple with the Buchanan – it's a softened edge where the frame touches the ear to soothe the wearing experience from every angle.

Franklin

It's a familiar shape with new things. The bridge is lowered to sit snugly along your nose contour. Soft and delicate with no hard edges, it's a new friend from the same place.

Hayes

If you take an urban design course at San Francisco State (like someone on our team did), you'll study Hayes Street as a model for how modern streets should be designed (something about mixing commercial, residential, and entertainment). We carried that sentiment over to our Hayes optical – a perfectly proportioned modern frame, universally flattering, and an assemblage of our classic design elements. All eyewear should be designed this well.

Lily

The spirit of '50s Hollywood bombshells lives on in the Lily. She's an intriguing combination: seductive, intellectual, bubbly, full of depth – seemingly contradictory traits that beautifully forge the character of this frame. We're debuting our new Facet Temple with the Lily – it's a softened edge where the frame touches the ear to soothe the wearing experience from every angle.

Octavia

On a tree-lined corner of Octavia Street in San Francisco, you'll find what some refer to as "the most haunted corner" in the city. It's a tale that weaves together a woman's life as an activist and "Voodoo queen" (this story is worth Googling). Our version of Octavia is slightly less haunted but no less spirited – it captures the courage and tenacity demanded when going against the mainstream. Octavia is the frame we imagine worn by the most fearless of us all, or when you need to cosplay as one.
